New York, Nov. 3.—Senator Harding, who left New York from Washington, late today, said the real wing to the stateside he made this morning at the capital.

"Senator Harding has been elected President of the United States. He is just as much my President as that of any other citizen of our country."

in any way that the American labor movement, including myself, can do service to him, of course it will be duty and pleasure."

Washington, Nov. 5.—(By The Associated Press) — Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared today in his statement on the outcome of Tuesday elections that "every forward looking man must feel some deep regret because of the great change towards

"But Democracy will right itself at the proper time," said Mr. Gompers, "and meanwhile the actual tabulation of results in congress, the law makbody, shows a definite and specific gain for all that makes for progress and responds to the needs of the time."

Mr. Gompers asserted that a man in the house "whose record of service was perfect has been recalled," and added that the new Congress would show an increased number

The non-partisan political policy of the labor federation, Mr. Compers continued, "is more completely justified than ever and the futility of separate party action more convincingly demonstrated."

Referring to the congressional

Mr. Gompers said income checking already showed "that 1990 congressmen who were inconsistent and hostile have been defeated. This is one of the most impressive features of the entire election. The same servers have been beaten. Against these 50, the working people have elected 55 or 60 men whose records show fair and consistent service."

"This represents a clear gain in integrity in government," Mr. C. J. Davis said. "I am glad to see that the people claimed the election to come out of at least 15 union men and so it was probable that the final count would show 'more than 20, per cent'."

"The non-partisan campaign of the American Federation of Labor," the veteran leader continued, "was primarily and most effectively a campaign in congressional districts

The results were gained in the primary election and in the election. These results will serve as a constant reminder to all citizens of special privileges which have been granted to certain individuals who are always in the forefront of every movement. The fact will be before the new Congress that 59 of the unfaithful and dishonest members of the House of Representatives were defeated by the organized workers of our republic.

"Shortly the names of the men who have been fair and just and who have been rejected and those who have been rejected and those who have been rejected."

His Life by Shooting

Washington, Nov. 5. — Commander Warren J. Terhune, naval gunnery school, Santee, S. C., was shot and killed himself at 10:30 a. m. today. He was shot on November 3, said a dispatch received at the navy department today.

Commander Terhune recently had been ordered relieved from duty as commandant of Santee and Commander George R. Evans appointed to succeed him.

No details regarding the suicide given in the message, but naval authorities have assumed that the commander took his life during a period of reason induced by ill health

MATTERS ABOUT THE CITY.

That Chestnut Street Sidewalk.

The recent tragic accident on lower Chestnut street, followed by the death of the victim, a young lad, at the Fox Memorial hospital, draws public attention again, at least should, to the dangerous condition for pedestrians of that portion of one of the city's principal thoroughfares. At an earlier time there was perhaps little or at least much less danger, but with the construction of the Chestnut street school building and the rapid growth of the city in that section, the peril has steadily and greatly increased, and this the more because with the trolley track on one side of the street, there is no place for a pedestrian safe on the north side of the street.

The cause of the long delay is well known. It grows out of differences between the city authorities and the property owners as to the location of the walk, or rather as to the boundaries of the old turpike, whose line the street follows. But for this the walk might have been laid years ago; and even with this, there is no question that it should be laid now. The population of that section has doubled since the question first was agitated, but the location of the walk seems no nearer a settlement than it was three or four years ago.

A general opinion is that an amicable agreement may never be reached between city and property owners. If this is the case, many are asking if there is further use of delay. If the matter must go to the courts, the necessary proceedings, they believe, should begin at once, to the end that when another season opens, this important sidewalk may at once be put down.

Autos and Auto Accidents.

It is also noticeable that in spite of general cautionary warnings as to care in the operation of automobiles, the number of collisions and of accidents more or less serious in city and country do not appear greatly to diminish. Some of these are doubtless unavoidable, but in general they are the result of lack of caution on the part of drivers, some of whom in cases of danger or in any real emergency lose their heads. In the old days when only horse-drawn vehicles were upon the streets, there were two brains at least working in connection with every wagon—that of the driver and of his beast, and often the latter brain worked as efficiently as the former. In case of the auto, only the driver does any thinking, and for this reason it is important that he should be wide-awake and careful in operation. That he is not is sometimes the case, though it may properly be admitted that there are accidents which on account of defects in mechanism are properly classed as unavoidable.

Streets Are Not Speedways.

For a further consideration, it should be remembered that streets are not intended for speedways, any more than there were in the era of the horse, nor indeed so much. Of late, there has been complaint that the newly-paved Elm and Maple streets, which are wide, smooth and straight thoroughfares with admirable surfaces, have proved source of temptation to drivers of speed wagons. These streets are not designed for any such purpose, and moreover their new, not thoroughly settled surfaces are not intended for any such use. A few arrests, in case of persistent offenders might have a deterrent influence.

Another section of the town which seems to have special attraction to violators of traffic regulations is Main street between the Chestnut creek bridge and Third street. Two often drivers going east put on speed after Osage street is reached in order to climb the Main street hill between Third and Fifth. As a single instance one day this week after the trolley car had stopped at Third street, and one out of three passengers for that point had alighted, a car came at an estimated speed of 30 miles an hour passed without the least effort to slacken speed, and in a twinkling disappeared over the hill. Thus, it is the testimony of motemen and conductors, through the driver violates two provisions of the law—the speed regulations and passing a trolley car discharging passengers. As for cars going west, the long straight line of pavement is too great a temptation to many drivers who take a chance on children crossing or cars driving in from side streets.

These things are not merely local. In case of continued violations of the law of this sort in all parts of the state the chauffeur's license law may be extended to drivers of all vehicles. It is now apparent of such an amendment those who do not should the pavement in operation if they do not expect it to become part of the law.

Dairymen's League Figures.

In the state of New York there are now 757 branches of the Dairymen's league, and the 64,934 farmers belonging are owners of 724,743 cows. Of these there are 31 leagues, 211 members and 28,273 cows in Otsego county and 43 leagues, 2,161 members and 42,049 cows in Delaware.

W. C. T. U. COMMITTEEWOMEN.

Hickory Nuts Plaintiff But Dear.

Hickory nuts are plentiful in this locality this fall and the price is high. Many farmers complain that the nuts are being taken from the trees without their permission. Evidently the same thing is happening in other localities judging from the following from the Canajoharie Courier: Hickory and butternut are plentiful in the rural districts near here, especially near Cherry Valley and Salt Springville. The former sell for 54 per bushel, the latter bring $1.50 per bushel. Many persons with autos are going to this section and getting the nuts without the permission of the owners to gather them, which the farmers naturally resent. One farmer near Salt Springville recently caught several parties stealing his hickory nuts and collected twenty-four dollars from them as penalties in one day.

Committee on Rural Education.

Among the members of the committee on Rural Education in the state of New York, to which reference was editorially made in The Star of yesterday, are Frank B. Gilbert, deputy state commissioner of education, a former resident of Bainbridge, and Mrs. M. E. Armstrong of West Winfield, who is president of the Otsego County Home Bureau. The former represents the State Education department and the latter the Home Bureau; while E. R. Eastman, formerly of the Delaware County Farm Bureau, is at the head of the Dairymen's league representatives.

OTSEGO SHEEP BREEDERS.

Annual Meeting Will Be Held Next Thursday at Cooperstown.

The annual meeting of the Otsego County Sheep Breeders' association, Inc., is to be held at the Chamber of Commerce, Cooperstown, this day, Nov. 11th, starting at 10:30 in the morning. A fine program has been arranged and it is expected that a large attendance will greet the speakers. The sheep and wool industry have this year been the victims of market conditions. Even with this in mind, the high breeding standards for which Otsego county has long been widely known are not to be sacrificed. It is hoped that Mr. Smith's fabric bill will become a reality. There is no reason why the citizens of this country should be clothed in shoddy made from the rags gathered from the ash cans of civilization while there is no sale of virgin wool.

Sheep breeders, come to Cooperstown! Look over the State fair prizes! Get the information available and be ready to load your wool for the State port before the end of November!

Boys First Baseball Field.

The piece of property between Main street and Susquehanna avenue known as the Phinney lot on which General Abler Doubleday is said to have invented and participated in the first game of baseball ever played, was deeded to the Cooperstown Chamber of Commerce this week by A. S. Phinney. Consideration, $5,000. In this connection attention is called to the fact that there are some $500 in pledges that have not been paid which the committee would be glad to receive at once. The sum of $5,114 has thus far been collected on pledges. A recent contribution of $17.63 has been received from G. F. Sommers, president of the Newark Fire Insurance company of Newark, N. J., which he has collected personally for the project. (Otsego Farmer.)

Southern N. Y. Light Bills Increased.

The Southern New York Power company, supplying Cooperstown, Laurens, Milford, Richfield Springs and various Otsego county towns with electricity, under a tariff filed with the Public Service commission, Second district, effective Nov. 30, will make increases in its block rates for metered lighting service, camp lighting and power metered cooking service. New lighting rates are—first 50 kilowatt hours a month, 15 cents a kilowatt hour; next 50, 14 cents; next 50, 13 cents; next 50, 12 cents; over 200, 10 cents. The flat rate for window lighting will be increased to one cent a watt per month.

A Car of Specialists

THAT'S the wonderful thing about this New Series Moon — Every feature is the product of specialists. Take its powerful, sweet running six cylinder Red Seal Continental motor. The best engineering skill of two continents has made it the accepted standard of motor efficiency.

And just as it embodies the talent of specialists who are unsurpassed in their particular field, so every other feature has the demonstrated excellence of quality. Delco, Timken, Rayfield, Spicer, Exide, Brown-Lipe, Pedders, Borg & Beck — these are the exceptional units of specialists whose work no single plant, however great, could equal.

Their selection by Moon engineers is backed by an experienced judgment of fifteen years. The record of Moon accomplishment in engineering and coach work is shown in this wonderful new car where one or two features do not dominate at the sacrifice of others, but where every unit gives evidence of thoroughbred quality. Prompt deliveries.

LOCAL MENTION.

Remember the public market this morning. With approaching winter weather there may not be many more of them.

A large and especially interesting collection of new books—including fiction and non-fiction—has just been received at the Public Library and will be ready for circulation today.

One of the most attractive window displays seen along Main street in some time is that of the C. R. McCarthy company, which gives a prominent place in its island show case to a mounted peacock, the property of William Abbott. The bird is a beauty and is the cynosure of envious eyes.

Porch Climber in Oneonta.

Oneonta appears to have a combined porch climber and "peeping Tom." Several residents of the Upper Main street and hospital hill section of the city have been annoyed during the past week by the man, but as yet the police have not been given sufficient clues to lead to his arrest. One night this week, the man attempted to enter a house on Main street by climbing up on the porch roof of the house and raising a window, but he was frightened away by the occupants of the house before he got inside. On another occasion, a resident of Norton avenue observed the man looking in the front window of his home. Any persons who are annoyed in the future should immediately notify the police department.

Injured Men at Fox Memorial.

Merritt Rathbone, who suffered severe concussion of the brain on Sunday last at Grand Gorge, is still at the Fox Memorial hospital. His condition is steadily improving, though he is not yet fully recovered and it will probably be some time before he leaves the hospital.

William H. Higgs of Sidney, whose right arm was lost as a result of an accident which he suffered at the Sidney station last Tuesday night, is rallying at the Fox Memorial hospital from the effects of his injuries and the subsequent amputation. While not entirely out of danger, his condition is favorable.

Meetings Today.

Regular meeting Typographical union, No. 135, this evening at 7:00 o'clock, in Trade and Labor hall.

Special meeting Daughters of Isabella this evening at 7:30. A committee please meet at that time.

All who are to take part in the Missionary pageant at the United Presbyterian church are asked to come to the church this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Evidences of Summer Lingering.

Winter that lingers in the lap of spring has its antithesis in the summer which, greatly to the public delight, still lingers in the lap of latest autumn. A. W. Coe of Meredith brought to The Star office yesterday a storable bouquet of wild flowers which included dandelions, buttercups and strawberry blossoms.

Woman's Club.

The Girls' Sewing class will meet at the Woman's club rooms at 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

Safe Deposit Service.

In order to give their customers who rent safe deposit boxes, better accommodations and service, the Wilber National bank has added to its equipment three additional coupon booths of the latest design, assuring absolute privacy to the customers when looking over the contents of their safe deposit box. They have a few boxes yet for rent in one of the best and most expensive vaults in the United States in a city the size of Oneonta. Every one is invited to call at the Wilber National bank and inspect the recent improvements made in the interest department.

PUBLIC HEALTH IN ONEONTA.

Epidemic Cases Under Control and Situation Entirely Favorable.

During the month of October, there were 19 cases of diphtheria in Oneonta, of which five were merely scarlatina, suffering in the main from nasal diphtheria, who were unquestionably the cause of the active cases in the town. They were discovered by culturing large numbers of school children. During the month there was one death from diphtheria, which is very unusual and is accounted for because it was unrecognized until it was in its late stages. The cases were practically all of them light, and the disease is now entirely under control, which is due in no small measure to the cooperation with the health authorities and school nurse of the teachers, especially of the River Street school.

"Some parents," said Health Officer Augustin in an interview yesterday, "have been continually negligent to their community in failing to heed the oft-repeated orders of the health department nurse and health officer. Such flagrant disregard of the ordinary safety of the community and of duty to their fellow citizens, will in the future be punished to the full extent of the law."

DOUGHBODYS TO SEE WAR FILMS.

Members of 27th and 17th Divisions Shown in Pictures Nov. 8-9.

Hundreds of American doughboys of Oneonta and Otsego county will have an opportunity to live over their lives again and view themselves in action on various sections of the French battle front, through arrangements made by Oneonta post, 256 American Legion, for the showing of 7,000 feet of film of which the greater portion was centered during war time.

The films are being brought to this city under the direction of Charles S. Hart, former director general of the division of films, United States government, committee on public information, during the war. The films consist of the cream of footage, "shot" by the United States signal corps d'aviation camera men. There are hundreds of scenes that only the official government photographers could obtain and have never been shown before in this vicinity. Most of the scenes are of the battles of Chateau Thierry, Argonne, St. Mihiel and many other wonderful scenes, including numerous "shots" of the boys of the 27th and 17th New York divisions in action, and other divisions.

Four showings will be given each day, 2:15 and 4 p. m.; 7:15 and 9 p. m.

Harry Roe Commits Suicide.

Harry Roe, who operated the gates at the Main street crossing of the D. & H. in Bainbridge, committed suicide by shooting himself Thursday morning. As the story goes, Roe had been attentive to a married woman in town and the fact that her husband knew of the attachment worried Roe considerably. A couple of weeks ago, he attempted suicide by taking chloroform, but was revived. Thursday morning, he took his shot gun and, placing the barrel to his head, discharged the gun, blowing his head to pieces.

Roe at one time worked about Oneonta and Otsego. He was the son of David Roe of Otsego.

Does Business Beat Politics?

I think it does. Business is coming to its own and the days of political parades and fooling people are waning. Time was, when to be engaged in business was considered dishonorable, in a way and a noble or gentleman was one who never did any useful work or earned his salt, and this was handed down to us from the upper crust of the old country. But times have changed. I'm running a big safe business that gives all little fellows a fair chance and a square deal and that helps the workers instead of the drones. It's a big live and let live business and if you don't believe it, just go to Binghamton, Utica, Albany, Schenectady, New York or Brooklyn ask lots of people there who know me and they'll tell you that I'm a wonder and that I've made good. Then possibly you'll tumble to what I'm doing here in Oneonta and find out how I've safely made small amounts of little fellows roll up to several million dollars, for homes and farms, have made rent money pay for them and am now this safely rolling up several million more. Yes and you'll want to climb yourself because you hadn't been able to see a hole in a ladder here in Oneonta. Good day.

I am the safe and sane insurance Building and Loan association. It

RECREATION CLUB DANCES

Will Be Held on Monday Evenings During Coming Winter.

The first of the Recreation club dances will be held Tuesday evening, November 16, at the High School building, but on Monday evenings on succeeding weeks during the winter season, it was decided last night at a meeting of the Manufacturers' association held at the Chamber of Commerce offices. The dances will be run by the association acting in conjunction with committees representing the Chamber of Commerce and the Federation of Social Welfare.

A four-piece orchestra will furnish music at the dances, it was announced, and special dancing instruction will be given in two separate classes, a beginners' class and an advanced class. The membership tickets to the dancing club will be given out upon application to the various manufacturers, and employees of retail establishments may obtain them upon application at the Chamber of Commerce offices. The entrance fee will be 25 cents per person at each dance, including war tax, a slight advance being made over the fee of last year to meet the increased cost of music and other arrangements.

Endorsement of the roll call membership drive of the Red Cross was made by the association at last night's meeting. Manufacturers represented expressed willingness to cooperate in the campaign, as had been done in previous years.

Comment by members of the association brought out the interesting fact that signs of increased business became evident immediately after the election of Senator Harding as President, was certain, because of the expectancy of a protective tariff and betterment of business conditions in general. One manufacturer remarked that Wednesday he received a telegram revoking a cancellation of an order which a customer had refused previously because of the slump in business.

50-Hour Week at Kayser Plant.

The local plant on Wall street of Julius Kayser and company does not appear to have been greatly affected by the general depression that at present exists in the textile business. Inquiry at the local offices yesterday concerning published reports that many factories are laying off their employees and reducing the wages of those retained, brought out that there are more than 200 employees working daily at the local plant. Instead of reducing production, the factory is now operating 50 hours a week, instead of 48 and 49 as in the past, and the plant has numerous unfilled orders still on hand. The factory is now working on the novel scheme of giving the employees every Saturday off, and to make up this lost time, a ten-hour day is in effect for the other five working days of the week. The plan is in favor of the local employees generally.

Griffith's Latest Movie Hit.

Many of our readers will recall press dispatches of several months ago when it was reported that D. W. Griffith was lost at sea. After being missing for ten days he was found on one of the South Sea islands, where he and his cast had been driven by storm. When found the whole crew were nearly exhausted from exposure and from lack of food and water. After their recovery they remained and produced the picture, "The Idol Dancers," which made rather a sensational hit in the movie world. This picture is booked to be shown at the Strand on Monday and Tuesday evening.

UNDER EXCELLENT PATRONAGE

Annual American Legion Ball Will Take Place Next Thursday Night.

The committee in charge of the Armistice Day dance to be held by the local American Legion on Thursday evening, November 11, at the state armory, announced yesterday that the following ladies had consented to act as patronesses for the event: Mrs. R. C. Briggs, Mrs. Laverne Butts, Mrs. W. W. Capron, Mrs. A. M. Curtis, Mrs. A. W. Cutler, Mrs. G. J. Dunn, Mrs. E. W. Elmore, Mrs. U. A. Ferguson, Mrs. A. E. Fizzle, Mrs. L. C. Gurney, Mrs. M. C. Hemstreet, Mrs. A. O. Ingerham, Mrs. F. M. Jackson, Mrs. A. L. Kellogg, Mrs. H. W. Lee, Mrs. D. H. Mills, Mrs. A. S. Morris, Mrs. J. H. Row, Mrs. O. H. Rowe, Mrs. Spencer Rowe, Mrs. John A. Stuts, Mrs. J. C. Smith, Mrs. L. D. VanWoert, Mrs. H. D. Weston and Mrs. W. S. Whipple.

These ladies have in the past taken prominent parts in Oneonta's social life and their names assure the dance being held under excellent patronage. The arrangements for the event are proceeding smoothly and indications point to a large crowd of dancers present next Thursday evening. Florist Wyckoff has charge of the interior decorations which will consist chiefly of the national flag and the American Legion emblem, woven together. Tickets for the dance are now in the hands of members of the legion.

FOR BENEFIT LOCAL LODGE.

Moose To Have Week's Bazaar in Dreamland Hall.

The local order of Moose is to have a bazaar in Dreamland Hall Thanksgiving week, Nov. 21 to 27, inclusive. There will be many attractions including dancing, free vaudeville and wrestling. The World of Fun shows have been engaged to furnish all the entertainment and attractions.

In connection with the bazaar, the Moose will run a popularity contest for the young ladies of the city. The girl receiving the largest number of votes will be awarded a beautiful diamond ring. The second prize in the contest is a solid gold wrist watch and the third prize is a beautiful pendant.

The prizes are on exhibition in Brigham's jewelry store window and will remain there till after the bazaar. All young ladies wishing to enter the contest can do so by leaving their names at Brigham's jewelry store and receiving contest books, or at the Moose home after 2 o'clock any afternoon.

Canning's orchestra has been engaged to play at the bazaar the entire week.

Moon Cars Attract Attention.

C. D. Townsend and R. C. Johnson arrived in the city yesterday afternoon with a Moon touring car and sedan, which they had driven through from New York city, stopping over Thursday night at Kingston. These are the first models of the Moon make to reach Oneonta, but they will not be the last if the expressions of many admirers yesterday mean anything. The special Moon announcement of the Oneonta Auto Exchange appears elsewhere in this issue.

For Sale—One Ford touring car, 1920 model, with starter. Look it over Saturday. The Francis Motor Sales company.
